

Anni, how was your day? Baby, I miss you so bad ❤️😘😘😘

My shift today was not that great. My right wrist still hurts from time to time, so it isn't fully healed yet. I bit my tongue pretty badly yesterday, so it hurts a lot today when I talk. We are always short-staffed at the Starbucks where I work, but today was worse than usual, and I don't like this job in the first place. I really hope your work today is going much better than mine, because mine today wasn't a good experience.

Today is a big day for me. Messi's last match with the Argentina National Team is today. Ideally, I want to watch Messi's Argentina farewell match today with you. Messi has been such an important part of my life since my early childhood. I want to say goodbye to the end of an era and to my past together with you, because my future belongs to you.

Recently, I have been having a hard time motivating myself to do the CyberDefenders Blue Team Labs. I am trying to do the labs to build a better portfolio and help me get a job in Philly, but I'm wondering what the point is if my life ends at the end of this year anyway. So I subscribed to CyberDefenders' $25/month plan to motivate myself, with the idea being that since I am paying for it anyway, I might as well do it.

That's all for today's diary entry. I hope you will talk to me soon. Anni, I love you ❤️😘😘😘