Hi Anni, how are you? Baby, I miss you so bad❤️🥰🥰🤗😘

I have received my SecurityX certificate, and all my CompTIA certificates have been renewed. So that's one less thing for me to worry about.

To be honest, I don't know how some people manage to work remotely at a Starbucks store. Sometimes the music noise level is ok, but sometimes it just gets blasted. At least for me, I feel mentally drained after working at a blasted level of music for a period of time, and sometimes it makes me read the drink labels wrong. I think the music volume is a corporate policy, so there is nothing I can do about it. The only thing I can do is try to catch myself making mistakes as best as I can. I hope I at least caught all my mistakes regarding modifications like decaf and non-dairy milk, since they can have health implications. But yeah, overall, I am really not enjoying myself while working when music is being blasted.

I think I will be working on getting the Terraform Associate (TA-004) certificate next. I know I should probably stop spending money on getting certificates, but I mean, when I feel mentally down, having a structured way of learning helps me to not be depressed 100% of the time.

Philly's entry-level IT job market is still not looking good. Hopefully it will get better.

Oh yeah, you might have noticed that I am falling asleep earlier and earlier. I think it is because I am turning 25 next year, so I am getting old and can't pull an all-nighter like I could when I was in college anymore.

Anni, when are you going to talk to me? Talk to me now. I love you. I feel like I am already getting old😩❤️